DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

- 1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - Claims 10-12, drawn to an improvement of a portable pathogen detection system, classified in class 422, subclass 82.05.
 - II. Claims 13-28, drawn to a portable pathogen detection system with an optically encoded microbead reagents, classified in class 435, subclass 288.7.
 - III. Claims 1-9, drawn to a method for pathogen detection with a mixing holder, classified in class 436, subclass 535.
 - IV. Claims 29-35, drawn to a method for pathogen detection with capturing the microbeads, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions of Group II and Group I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination has a different disposable capture substrate array and does not require the subcombination for patentability. The subcombination has separate utility such as a method for detecting pathogens.

Inventions of Groups I, III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be 3. shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation. Neither the method of Group III nor Group IV requires the improved array of Group I. And, the method of Groups III and IV requires different method steps, thus they have different modes of operation.

- Inventions of Groups II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions 4. can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used to practice another materially different process such as the method of Group IV.
- Inventions of Groups II and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions 5. can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used to practice another materially different process such as the method of Group III.

Art Unit: 1641

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the searches 6. required are not co-extensive thus requiring a burdensome search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Additionally, different patentability considerations are involved for each group. For example, a patentability determination for Group III would involve a determination of the patentability of a method for pathogen detection with capturing the microbeads while a patentability determination for Group I would involve a consideration of the patentability of a portable pathogen detection system. These considerations are very different in nature.

A telephone call was made to L. E. Carnahan on 5/8/02 to request an oral election to the 7. above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the 8. inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
